

EAST AYRSHIRE CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSON'S SERVICE PLAN 2005-2008

Report by the Director of Educational and Social Services

1 PURPOSE OF REPORT

- 1.1 To advise the Kilmarnock Central Local Committee about the development of the East Ayrshire Children and Young Person's Service Plan 2005-2008 and to seek comments from Kilmarnock Central Local Committee regarding the proposed priorities.

2 BACKGROUND

- 2.1 Section 19 of the Children (Scotland) Act 1995 requires each local authority to prepare and publish a plan for the provision of relevant services in respect of children in their area, in partnership with key service providers.
- 2.2 In addition, the plan requires to evidence consultation with and involvement of children and young people and their parents/carers.
- 2.3 The new East Ayrshire Children and Young Person's Service Plan is due to be published in April 2005. This is the third full Children and Young Person's Service Plan published within East Ayrshire, with a one-year plan developed for 2004-05 in order to realign with new Scottish Executive guidance.

3 THE NATIONAL CONTEXT

- 3.1. The Scottish Executive published final guidance to local authorities on the development of the Children and Young Person's Service Plan for 2005-2008 in November 2004. The guidance sets out the overall aim of children's services planning taken from the "Partnership for a Better Scotland: A Partnership Agreement":

"Our aim is for world-class services for our children. That means a commitment not just to invest but also to reform – to cut through bureaucracy, simplify funding and ensure services are focused on the needs of children and young people"

- 3.2. The Scottish Executive outlined a vision for the plan and recommended that this be adopted by all local authorities. This vision is based on the principles enshrined in the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child. The guidance sets out seven key outcomes for children and young people, namely:

- Safe
- Nurtured
- Healthy

- Achieving
- Active
- Respected & Responsible
- Included

- 3.3. The guidance also sets out that Children and Young Person's Service Plans will bring together other key planning documents in relation to children's services.
- 3.4. The guidance states that Integrated Children's Services Plans should be active drivers for improvement in the delivery of services and outcomes for children and young people in each area. They should describe local objectives and strategies, across agency boundaries, for improving services and outcomes for children and young people, focusing activity on the delivery of effective child-centred services. They should:
- assess local needs
  - identify priorities and objectives
  - agree implementation strategies and resources to deliver these
  - engage staff, service users and the public in these decisions
  - ensure arrangements for monitoring progress
- 3.5. Planning Partners should also continue to ensure that the needs and aspirations of those children who are disadvantaged; socially excluded or vulnerable continue to be clearly addressed within the plan; including outlining arrangements for early intervention and support within universal services and targeted additional support where required.
- 3.6. Scottish Executive Departments will therefore, in future, use the Integrated Plans as the core documents for considering local activity and performance in delivering services, existing national priority frameworks and other commitments for children and young people, before any additional information and returns are requested.
- 3.7. The guidance places Children's Services Plans within the context of Community Planning and there must therefore be evidence linking Community Planning priorities and other relevant planning processes and strategy documents relevant to children and young people.
